Fowlerville High holds annual Academic Honors Program

Fowlerville High School held its annual Academic Honors Program last Wednesday at the Alverson Center for the Performing Arts.

"The philosophy for the program is based on the belief that there are many students who consistently work hard on being the best students they can be," it was noted. "In order to highlight their achievement in a more lasting way, this program is intended to honor the students and their families."

Based on their grade-point-average, a student can receive an academic letter or a second or third-year pin, or they can receive an Academic Achievement Award. There is also a Principal's Student Improvement Award for those who raise their GPA by one full point from the previous year's cumulative grade.

"Academic achievement has to be the foundation for all activities at Fowlerville High School," it was stated. "If our students are to be successful in the 21st century, their educational base must be sound. It is our sincere hope the students receiving recognition (at this event) will be the role models for others to follow."

Bradford Lusk, the high school principal, offered comments at the start of the program. The officers of the National Honor Society then inducted its new members. Assisting Lusk in presenting the awards were Eric Diroff, the assistant principal, and Brian Osborn, the athletic director.

See page 18 for the entire list of students who were recognized during the Academic Honors Program.

The annual Fowlerville High School Academic Honors Program was held last Wednesday. Shown here is high school principal Bradford Lusk with two of the students (both seniors) who were recognized for their scholastic achievement—Zach Rose and Kristen Burkhardt.

Part of the annual Academic Honors Night is the induction of new members to the National Honor Society. This year there were 17 inductees. Conducting the ceremony were this year's NHS officers, from left, Carra Burnie, the vice president; Madeline Clough, the president; Kristen Burkhardt, the secretary; and Emmy Frederick, the treasurer.

Caleb Jenkins Column

One of Seven Billion

At the time of this writing, there are 7,379,031,591 people living on this globe that we call earth, according to the United States Census Bureau. I say that this is the current population, but of course that number is quickly increasing just as I write this sentence. The same source lists the current US population at 324,725,512. According to the assumptions used to construct the live counter, there is approximately one birth every 8 seconds and one death every 11 seconds. That, combined with the migrant tally, results in an overall increase of one more person in the U.S. every 16 seconds.

The United States of America is the third most populated country in the world, ranking third behind China and India. Our own great state of Michigan makes it onto the “top 10 most populated states” list at that much-coveted tenth slot. The Census Bureau lists the Great Lakes State as having 9,928,300 people living in it as of 2016, and that results in a modest 175.6 people per square mile.

We can get even more detailed than that. Let’s talk about counties. As of July 1, 2015, the population of Livingston County was sitting at 187,316, and Ingham County had a few more people with 286,085. Meanwhile, the 2010 census states that Fowlerville had a population of 2,886; Webberville had 1,272 people; and Howell had 9,489. All in all, that’s a lot of people!

So, you’re probably wondering why I spent all of that time listing out those numbers. Well, I wanted to lay a foundation to give a little perspective. We live in a packed world with a lot of people running around. We could sit by a busy road and watch as thousands of cars fly past hour after hour. We’ll most likely never see most of those people, yet we all basically share the same space. That blows my mind! It’s such a full planet with so much going on at all times. It’s easy for us to lose our place. After all, you’re just one person out of the well over 7 billion people living here, right? What you do couldn’t possibly make that much of a difference. The other 7 billion people will make up for what you fail to do. Right?

Wrong! Yes, we live in a world filled with tons of other people, but I see the whole thing as a giant machine. The biggest and most complex machines out there can still completely fail if one important piece doesn’t do its job.

An entire production process could come grinding to a halt if one piece of a conveyor failed in a factory. It’s the same for us and our communities. We may sometimes be tempted to think that it doesn’t matter whether or not we fulfill our purpose and role because no one is watching or no one will be affected.

However, I’m here to tell you that it does matter. Your action or inaction matters. You have a role that cannot be performed by anyone else. If you’re not sure what that role is, then I encourage you to seek it out, and once you discover it, seize it. Grab onto it and don’t let it go. Pursue it with a passion. For you contribute to that machine. What kind of disaster would we face if everyone viewed their roles as unimportant and decided to not perform their roles? No, we’re all needed for our own individual purposes. America needs you. The world population counter is now at 7,379,043,778. Will you be a positive participant of that number?

Livingston Centre Historic Village getting ready for upcoming activities

Easter Egg Hunt on April 8 at Community Park

The Livingston Centre Historic Village is beginning spring activities as members plan events for the coming months. Its mission continues to be dedicated to the restoration and renovation of the buildings in the Historic Village that represent life in a young and developing Livingston County.

An Easter Egg Hunt will be held April 8 at the large Community Park on N. Grand Ave in Fowlerville at 11:00 a.m. Baskets will be provided and there is no charge for this traditional spring activity. Children will be separated into three age groups: 2 - 4 year olds, 5 - 7 year olds, and 8 - 10 year olds. The Easter Bunny will be there, and the barrel train will be offering rides.

The annual Spring Gramma’s Attic Sale is being planned for June 15 - 17 at the Fairgrounds. Please keep the Historic Village in mind during your spring cleaning. This is a major fundraiser for the Historic Village. The only items NOT accepted are electronics such as old TVs, computer monitors and items like this. Please call Marj Carlon at 517-223-3831 for further information. Watch this space for drop-off dates. Pick-up is available when necessary.

The third annual Fall Festival will be held Saturday, Sept. 30, 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p.m. Additional information will follow; vendors and entertainers can contact Ms. Carlon.

It is the hope that the historic buildings will be open during the spring and summer, in addition to Fair Week. Dates and times will be published beginning in May.

As always, the beautiful, historic Green Church is available for smaller weddings at a reasonable price. Please contact Ms. Carlon or the Fair Office at 517-223-8186.

Historic Village meetings continue to be held the first Thursday of every month at 7:00 p.m. inside the Fowlerville Fair Office. NEW MEMBERS are always WELCOME!

Thank you to all who have supported us in the past and who will continue to do so in the future. We wouldn't be who we are if it wasn't for you.

Michigan House Report

By Dr. Hank Vaupel,
47th District

I had the opportunity to deliver testimony to my fellow members of the Health Policy Committee on a bill I sponsored to help protect the anonymity of birth mothers who surrender their newborns to the state. This legislation will encourage newborns to be dropped off at safe locations, rather than abandoned or harmed by the birth parents.

Under current law, women are allowed to anonymously surrender their newborns at a police station, fire station or hospital within 72 hours of the birth. Since the adoption of this law in 2000, 175 babies have been safely delivered, and most of them have been placed into homes with loving families.

Many women are forced to surrender their newborn for their own safety because of an abusive relationship or their religious beliefs. This system creates a safe way for birth mothers to drop off their newborn with complete protection of their anonymity. Under this legislation, birth-mothers will be listed as “unknown” and babies will be named “Baby Doe.”

The committee will vote on House Bill 4311 in the coming weeks.

Thank you to those who attended my in-district office hours. It was a pleasure to see many familiar faces and meet a few new ones as well. I hope you’ll be able to join me next month on Friday, April 21 at the following times and locations:

- 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. at Fowlerville Farms, 941 S. Grand Ave. in Fowlerville
- 4 to 5 p.m. at Kahuna Coffee, 1836 Old U.S. Highway 23 in Hartland
- 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at All Star Coney Island, 934 Michigan Ave. in Howell

No appointments are necessary to attend. If you are unable to attend but would still like to share a thought, concern, or idea with me, please contact my Capitol office at (866) 828-4863 or HankVaupel@house.mi.gov.

Rep. Vaupel presents award to officials from Asahi Kasei Plastics North America for community partnership.

It was a pleasure to see local Livingston County 4-H groups at the Capitol on Tuesday. 4-H is a great program that teaches our young people responsibility and helps them cultivate valuable life skills. It’s always great to see local visitors at the Capitol!

I was pleased to be asked to present an award to Asahi Kasei Plastics North America for its longstanding commitment to Genesis House’s Transitional Employment Program. This month marked the 10th anniversary of their partnership. During this time the company has helped 15 Genesis House members get back on their feet through employment opportunities. Their willingness to help is remarkable. Thank you, Asahi Kasei Plastics, for being an exemplary neighbor.

I cannot believe it is the last week of March. Where does the time go? As I have said before – there are so many books and so little time! So for those who need a little help in deciding what to read we have BOOK PAGE – America's book review AND it is FREE at the Fowlerville Library.

Each month we receive BOOK PAGE, which is a selection guide for new books. The editorial policy is that the editors evaluate and select for review the best books published in a variety of categories. Only books that are highly recommend are featured. Book Page is editorially independent and never accepts payment for editorial coverage.

Book Page is a great source for every reading taste out there. From thrillers to cooking, romance to teens – Book Page has it all! With color illustrations and spotlights on authors, this is a great way to check out new authors and those authors that have been around for some time.

It is the end of March and soon we will be getting our April edition. The March issue had many books that I added to my "to read list." For example, I added EMPRESS by Shan Sa. This is the life and personality of Wu Zetian, Chinas first and only female emperor. She has been a subject of debate. Was she a power-mad monster? A clever woman who took hold of the only chance she had to determine her fate? A proto-feminist icon? This novel is a "vivid exploration of Wu's life and a complex portrait of a woman who has fascinated historians for centuries."

Another book called THE ORPHAN'S TALE by Pam Jenoff is a powerful novel set in a traveling circus during World War II. It introduces two extraordinary women and their harrowing stories of sacrifice and survival. It's secrets, lies, treachery and passion.

These and so much more await you at the Fowlerville Library. Book Page is fun to read and very entertaining. 'Spring' into the library and check out our new fiction and non-fiction. Books are still alive in this age of tablets, smart phones, and computers. I still say there is nothing like holding a book in your hand and being able to turn the crisp pages to the next chapter.

Till next week: "The heart that knows how to bow down and say sorry is the heart that loves the most."

Pastor Tom Tarpley

Fourth week in Lent: Continuing in Love
The Lenten season is the time when disciples of Jesus turn their thoughts toward God’s amazing grace and to all that Jesus has done for us on the cross. This week’s scripture, as we continue our conversation on love, comes from 1 Corinthians 13:4-6. The passage contains several things that love “does not” do.
Last week, the apostle Paul shared with us the necessity of maintaining a heart of love. He told us that no matter what we do, if it is not done with the love of Jesus in our hearts, it is of no value to us.

In the scripture this week he continues his description of love by telling us that “love is patient and kind.” Patience perfects our Christian character. It says in James 1:2-4 “My brothers, count it all joy when you fall into various trials, knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience. But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing.”
If there was ever a time when the followers of Jesus needed to develop a spirit of patience and kindness, it is now. “Why?” Because the world has declared all out war on those who follow Jesus. Jesus’s followers are being persecuted all around the world. They are being murdered by the thousands.
In a report from the Center on Studies on New Religion (CESNUR), more than 90,000 Christians around the world, were put to death in 2016 because of their faith. According to the director of the Center, “Christians are targeted for two reasons. First, because the proclamation of peace which they proclaim, disturbs the more belligerent groups. Second, because the social teaching on life, family, and poverty are opposed by powerful forces.”
This passage goes on to tell us that “love is not jealous, or boastful, or proud or rude. It does not demand its own way. It is not irritable, and it keeps no record of being wronged.”
Our world would be a much better place to live if all people would simply get rid of these common traits that too many people allow to control their lives. It was the jealousy of the religious leaders and their unwillingness to accept Jesus as the Way, the Truth, and the Life (John 14:6) that caused them to hate Him. It was their boastful and self-righteous attitudes that blinded them to the truth.
Jesus was love in the flesh. He possessed no negative characteristics and He never held anything we did against us. It was His unconditional love for us and the power of the Holy Spirit that enabled Him to rise above the pettiness of the people, and stay focused on His mission to be the sacrificial lamb that would save all of us from our sins.

I am so grateful that God’s love is not like my love. I strive everyday to imitate Jesus and live my life so that I can be an example for someone who is lost and has no relationship with Jesus. But I come up short on many occasions when it comes to demonstrating gentleness, patience, kindness, etc. I still struggle with pride, having my own way and not getting upset when I don’t get it. I really struggle with forgiveness and not holding the wrongs that people do to me against them. But I don’t give up, because I know that to be a faithful follower of Jesus, I must persevere when trial and tribulations come my way. I know that patience come for God in whom I put all my trust.
My pastor is preaching a series on “Empowered” Two weeks ago he spoke about the living power that we have residing in us that comes from renewing our minds and remaining in Jesus.
This Lenten season can be a turning point in our lives if we make a commitment to renew our minds by spending more time in the Holy Scriptures and recognizing that the Holy Spirit is living in us. Realize that He is patiently waiting for us to surrender our will to Him. When we totally surrender our will to God, the Holy Spirit becomes our control center and our lives will reflect the change in command.

If we will remember everything the Scripture teaches us about love, and if we keep putting into practice all the things that Jesus taught, said, and did, then people will be able to see real love in us, as it will be demonstrated in our daily walk. They will also see a state of unity among us that is absent from the world.
One of the reasons we are not seeing more impact in our nation by the influence of the church is due to disunity among believers. This disunity among the brothers and sisters in our churches is birthed out of a desire of people to live by what feels right instead of what is right. When Christ’s followers choose comfort over commitment, to be served over serving, and to shut-up rather than speak-up, there will continue to be disunity and disharmony in the body of Christ.
The final item in the list in verse six tells us that “love never rejoices about injustice, but that it always rejoices when the truth wins out. Love never gives up, never loses faith, is always hopeful, and endures through every circumstance.”
People with the love of Jesus in their hearts never gossip about what someone else is doing wrong or evil, and they always proclaim that which the word of God identifies as truth. Love never rejoices in wrongdoing.
Until next week, please focus on verses 7-11. Love never gives up, never loses faith, is always hopeful, and endures through every circumstance. Prophecy and speaking in unknown languages and special knowledge will become useless. But love will last forever! Now our knowledge is partial and incomplete, and even the gift of prophecy reveals only part of the whole picture! But when the time of perfection comes, these partial things will become useless. When I was a child, I spoke and thought and reasoned as a child. But when I grew up, I put away childish things (NL T).

2016 Water Quality Report for Village of Fowlerville

This report covers the drinking water quality for Village of Fowlerville for the 2016 calendar year. This information is a snapshot of the quality of the water that we provided to you in 2016. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and State standards.

Your water comes from 5 groundwater wells, each over Avg. depth of 250-290 ft. drawing from the Michigan & Marshall Formations watershed. The State performed an assessment of our source water to determine the susceptibility or the relative potential of contamination. The susceptibility rating is on a seven-tiered scale from “very-low” to “very-high” based on geologic sensitivity, well construction, and water chemistry and contamination sources. The susceptibility of our source is [Well # 9 (moderately high) Well # 10 (moderately high) Well #11 (moderately high) Well #12 (moderately low) Well #13 (moderately low)].

Significant sources of contamination: The Village of Fowlerville has no contamination in our wells.

If you would like to know more about the report please contact, Dan Whitt at the Village Office (517) 223-3771 or via e-mail at dwhitt@fowlerville.org

• Contaminants and their presence in water: Drinking Water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

• Vulnerability of sub-populations: Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

• Sources of drinking water: The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. Our water comes from wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

- Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
- * Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
 - * Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
 - * Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.
 - * Radioactive contaminants, which are naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.
 - * Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which provide the same protection for public health.

Water Quality Data

The table below lists all the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the 2016 calendar year. The presence of these contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done January 1 – December 31, 2016. The State allows us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. All of the data is representative of the water quality, but some are more than one year old.

Terms and abbreviations used below:

- Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

- Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL): means the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG): means the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- N/A: Not applicable ND: not detectable at testing limit ppb: parts per billion or micrograms per liter ppm: parts per million or milligrams per liter pCi/l: picocuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity).
- Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system must follow.

Information about Lead: If Present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant woman and young children. Lead in drinking water primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Village of Fowlerville is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, test methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead/>.

We will update this report annually and will keep you informed of any problems that may occur throughout the year, as they happen. Copies are available at Fowlerville Village Office, 213 S. Grand Ave. or by calling (517) 223-3771. EXT. 10. This report will not be sent to you.

We invite public participation in decisions that affect drinking water quality. You may contact the Village Office located at 213 S. Serving Our Seniors

Michigan’s seniors have contributed a great deal to our community and continue to make our state a great place to live and work. Because of that, I want to make sure that seniors are aware of resources available from our state, local community and my office to help deal with a variety of issues.

A great resource for seniors locally is the Livingston County government. Information on veterans benefits, meals on wheels, property records and much more is available on their website atwww.livgov.com. And for those looking for more information on Livingston County’s senior nutrition program, visit www.livgov.com/seniornutrition/ or call the toll-free phone number 1-888-886-8971.

Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette’s website is also helpful. The website is an excellent source of information on elder abuse, consumer education, identity theft, nursing home comparisons, and much more. Simply visit www.michigan.gov/ag and click on the Seniors button on the left side of the website for more information.

In addition, my office is always available to be of assistance. On my website, www.SenatorJoeHune.com, I have resources available that may be of interest to seniors that can be found on the Publications page under the Customer Service tab. We have a wide variety of useful information available, such as guides on the legal rights of seniors to information on planning for retirement. Please contact my office if you need help obtaining a guide.

It’s an honor to serve our community — especially those who do so much to make our community so great. I will keep

Little Glad Early Childhood Center celebrates Dr. Seuss’s birthday

Mrs. Frechette’s preschool class at the Little Glad Early Childhood Center celebrated Dr. Seuss’ birthday by reading many of his books. To continue to have fun with some of these stories, many hands-on math, literacy, and art activities were enjoyed by the Panda Classroom! Mrs. Frechette and Ms. Sarah understand the importance of reading at a young age to have a successful, lifetime educational experience. They share their love of reading with the children.

The Pandas are also participating in their “Read-To-Me” program, which challenges families to read at least 20 books during the month of March. Special guests will be reading to the children this month including Mr. Wayne Roedel, Fowlerville Schools Superintendent, Amanda Beckman, LGECC Director, and many parents!

Mack Ridenour uses his footprint to measure a shelf in the classroom.

Severe snow storm hit Fowlerville area in March of 1947—70 years ago

A severe snow storm that included high winds hit the Fowlerville area in late March of 1947—70 years ago. Drifts of three-to-four foot of snow resulted, bringing traffic and much activity to a standstill for a couple of days.

Shown here is Doris (Copeland) Hallock atop a tall snow drift in front of the chicken coop at the Copeland farm that was located north of town on Hayner Road. Snow-removal equipment was primitive by current standards and much of the digging had to be done by hand. It took awhile for the rural residents to clear their drives and the back roads, re-connecting them to the outside world. Doris would have been going on 16 when this picture was taken. The Copeland's, it was reported, had to dig a tunnel in the snow to reach the chicken coop.

A front-page story in the Wednesday, March 26, 1947 issue of The Fowlerville Review gave the following report of the storm.

“Spring was dealt a knockout blow in this section Monday night.

“Starting out the evening with rain and thunder, the temperature started to drop, and about 10 o’clock the rain changed to snow, and it was accompanied by a strong wind that piled up drifts to three and four feet high—and in some cases much higher—across all roads.

“Even US-16 (Grand River), the one thoroughfare that everyone takes for granted will be open, was plugged tight. All traffic on this main artery came to an absolute stop, and remained that way all day Tuesday, while all available State and County cleaning equipment was trying to force through at least a single traffic lane.

“But Wednesday forenoon the road to Detroit was declared passable, although not recommend for pleasure travel, while plows were still trying to work their way west.

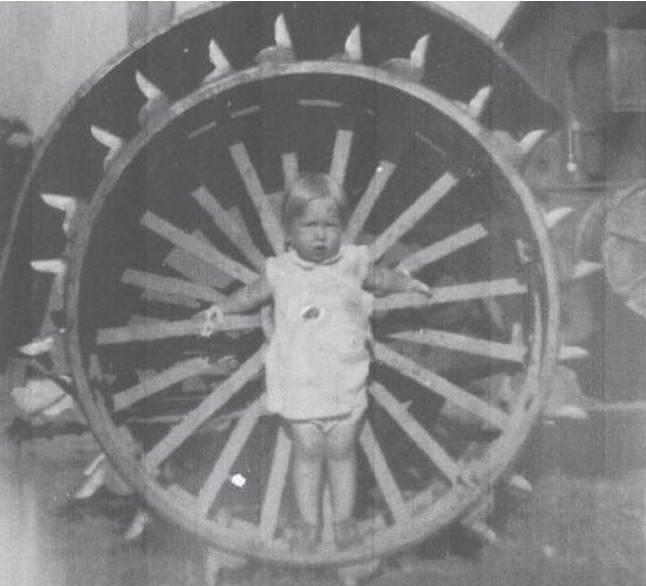

“Hampering the progress of the plows were large trucks which were stuck right in the middle of the road in several places, and had to be moved before the plowers could continue their work.

“Fowlerville homes were well filled with overnight guests, Tuesday night, and many had to spend the second night in their cars.

“A busload of passengers, leaving Detroit at 1 a.m. Monday, arrived in Fowlerville about noon Tuesday, and got to a point just west of town by Wednesday forenoon.

“Even according to the oldest of old timers, there has never been a storm to equal this one. Even during the winter of the blue snow, traffic was not delayed on Grand River for more than an hour at a time.

“The high winds also knocked down a tree here and there, although no serious damage has been reported from this cause.”

Here is another photo of an even younger Doris (Copeland) Hallock, taken around 1933-34 when she was a very young girl. The steel, studded wheel is from the John Deere D Tractor owned by her parents, Harold and Cleo Copland. The studs were later removed and a rim wedded onto the steel wheel, allowing a rubber tire to be put on.

Student of the Week – Emily Conn

By Carra Burnie

This week sophomore Emily Conn has the spotlight as student of the week. Emily's family consists of her mother and father, Jeff and Laurie Conn, and their two dogs Magic and Angel. Emily enjoys traveling with her family. Their most recent trip was to Ireland!

This year Emily is taking Geometry, Honors Sophomore Literature and Composition, Biology, World History, German IV, and Wind Ensemble. Her favorite class is Wind Ensemble because she loves making and learning music. Her two favorite teachers are Mrs. Collins and Mr. Vlieg.

Emily stated, "They are both amazing people and have made my high school career awesome! I love them both." Emily's favorite thing about FHS is all the different options they give their students, as well as the friendly staff. Her advice to underclassmen is to "Try your hardest, you won't get anywhere unless you try. You can do anything if you set your mind to it."

Emily was nominated by many of her teachers. Mrs. Pierce stated, "Emily is a hardworking, bright, respectful, and willing to lend a helping hand." Emily also participates in a bunch of extra-curricular activities. She plays soccer and is the goal keeper, she is also a member of German Club, Art Club and National Honor Society. She also teaches private music lessons and is a referee for the local recreation department. These surely keep her schedule busy! Emily is most looking forward to making fun and happy memories throughout high school.

She feels honored and surprised to be nominated as student of the week. Her favorite quote is one from Walt Disney – "All our dreams can come true, if we have the courage to pursue them." She likes this quote because it is true, we must face the fear of possibly messing up because we can't succeed without taking the risk.

After high school, Emily plans to attend college where she will possibly be a part of the marching band and/or soccer team. She plans to study forensics in hope to become a Crime Scene Investigator. Her number one aspiration in life is to get a good job so she can pursue her desires in traveling and anything else she may want to do. Enjoy the rest of your year Emily! Fowlerville High School is lucky to have a student like you!

Ask the Michigan State Trooper

By Sgt. Michael Sura

My grandfather would travel up every spring from Florida to visit us here in Michigan. He spent most of his time traveling around the State visiting my aunt and uncle's, and then he would head south in the fall back to his little home in Florida. Every spring he would come up, which always seemed to be right about the day I was thinking "Grandpa should be stopping in soon". I asked him one day how he knew when to appear. He looked at me and told me that "Grandpas" had magic powers and always knew when to appear and visit their grandkids.

One day while shopping with my mother at this department store, I became interested in the newest Transformer Robot toy that had been released. I saw my mother a little ways up ahead looking at something. I heard her call me and I said, "I'm coming mom," but I continued to check out the toys. Several minutes passed and sure is the day is long I lost my mom in the store. I walked several aisles but could not find her. I did not panic though, I was a Trooper's kid and Trooper's kids are never lost....we always know where we are at, it's everyone else that is lost. I quickly headed to the service counter to have them call my mother on the PA system.

Emergencies can happen at any time. You never know when weather (oh I don't know, like a wind storm) may knock out power all over the county or something else may transpire. In the event of an emergency, schools have policies and procedures to have children reunified with their parents. As parents, it is important that we understand these procedures and help follow them. This is done to ensure the safety of the children and everyone else involved. Make sure your school has accurate and up-to-date information on you, including emergency contacts and medical information. Be aware of where children are being released.

Each school has primary and secondary locations off campus for releasing students to parents. Information regarding the location and directions for picking up your child will be relayed through local media. When you arrive at the location, follow the directions posted on signs or given to you by school personnel. The primary responsibility is to ensure students are safely released to parents. Have valid identification with you. Remember students will only be released to parents or other adults as indicated on contact and release forms with proper identification. Most of all be patient, you're not the only one picking up their child.

Back to my story. The store clerk blasted my mother's name over the PA but as I turned around it was my grandfather who was standing there with a smile on his face. My mom came walking quickly up a few seconds later. My mother then tells me that I was going fishing with Grandpa for the day, and we were meeting him at the store--that's why he was there. My grandfather said one word "magic" and gave me a wink.

If you have any questions or comments, please email them to askatrooper12@gmail.com, or mail them to Ask a Trooper, Michigan State Police – Brighton Post, 4337 Buno Road, Brighton, MI 48116.

Senior Spotlight--Isaac Carpenter

By Maddie Stowe

From being the starting catcher of the high school baseball team to playing running back and defensive end on the football field, Isaac Carpenter has left his mark on Webberville as a vivacious athlete and student. Carpenter is the son of Lisa and Curt Carpenter and brother to Jessica, Kyle, and Alyssa Carpenter. Jessica attended Webberville Schools before transferring out of state, and Kyle attended Fowlerville Schools. Currently, Jessica is a middle school band teacher in Georgia, and Kyle is a pediatric surgeon in Kenya. Alyssa attends Webberville and is in the 8th grade.

“I’m thankful that my parents had perseverance and kept pushing me to achieve what they knew I was capable of,” said Carpenter.

Carpenter has been in choir for three years and FFA for four years. He was also in Journalism for two years. Last year, Carpenter represented the Webberville FFA Chapter at the district competition for Extemporaneous Speaking.

“Isaac is an impressive individual who is a quick thinker and can manage multiple directives at once,” said FFA and Journalism Advisor Colleen Scott Keiser. “His energy level and enthusiasm are quality attributes.”

Carpenter was involved in wrestling for one year, basketball for two years, varsity football for four years, and varsity baseball for four years. His senior season, the Webberville football team ended their 2016 season with a 7-2 record and earned themselves a spot in the playoffs.

“My favorite high school memory would have to be freshman year baseball season because it was my first time being able to catch,” said Carpenter. “The season didn’t go as planned, but it was fun learning a new position I now love.”

Carpenter was among the top SAT scores in his class and has been admitted to Michigan State University for the 2017 fall semester. He attended Lansing Community College for half of the school day in the beginning in his senior year.

“Isaac is crazy intelligent, and I’ll miss his constant smile and warm greeting,” said middle and high school history teacher, Janet Reifenberg.

Carpenter considers Mrs. Reifenberg as his most inspiring teacher.

“She always takes the time to get to know her students and cares about them,” said Carpenter.

While at Michigan State University, Carpenter plans to study electrical technology.

Since his first day at Webberville in preschool, Carpenter has left an impact as not only an athlete and scholar, but as a go-to friend.

“I like how energetic Isaac is and how he’s always been there for me. I’ve learned a lot from him and I’ll honestly miss all of our inside jokes,” said fellow senior and friend Michael Stidham.

Should I Improve My Exercise Routine?

One of the perks of buying a Blue Cross Blue Shield Medicare supplemental policy, besides the insurer helping pay my medical bills, is a quarterly magazine that has articles on how to promote better health and a longer life, namely by we, older folks, behaving in a proper and recommended manner.

The Spring 2017 issue has an article entitled “6 Ways to Spice Up Your Exercise Routine”. Well, the title piqued my interest since my routine is pretty much walking a couple of miles in a circle and adding an occasional weight-resistance exercise like lifting the 15-pound dumb bells in my office. When I do lift those weights, I first have to blow the dust off them.

The first recommendation to “spice up” the routine is to join the legion of people playing Pickle Ball. I can see that such activity would be great for a retiree, but in my case I don’t have a lot of leisure time. Well, actually I do, but I like to use it in a more leisurely manner than this “blend of tennis, ping pong, and badminton.” I’ve spent a good portion of my life “getting out of a pickle”. Does that count as exercise?

The second way is to step up your walking routine. Apparently I’m not doing mine in a proper manner. I need to find different venues than the quarter-mile track that goes around the football field, which happens to be conveniently located only two blocks from my house, or the nearby shopping mall. I’m also supposed to vary the pace, mixing real fast and then slowing down. I’ve tried that and the effort resulted in knee pain. I’m afraid that if I push the issue, I’ll be undergoing knee surgery and then I’ll go for several months at a snail’s pace. Not mention the pain that such a procedure causes. Does this magazine writer really understand the possible ill effects of pushing the physical envelope?

Number three is to challenge both your body and mind. The author recommends Yoga, although the suggestion is to start off with a gentler version. Is sitting in a chair, staring at a computer screen with all of the Facebook postings, and, by doing so, contemplate life’s complexities and oddities qualify as a challenging meditation experience?

The fourth way to jazz up our exercise routine is “Make you home sparkle and shine.” This, let’s be honest, is just a clever way to put a nice spin on housework. Well I’ll refer that to my wife. I mow the lawn with a push mower, so I’ll say that I’m already accomplishing this one. My lawn might not sparkle and shine, but it usually looks trimmed and tidy.

The fifth suggestion is to “Add something new to the mix.” Well, as they say, “Variety is the spice of life,” but there’s something to be said for the benefits of a familiar routine. The suggestion in this section includes taking up ballroom dancing. Maybe I can, as an alternative, “twist the night away.” Will this qualify as mixing things up?

Finally, the article suggests that we “Bond with a buddy.” Having an exercise partner, they explain, makes you more likely to stick to your exercise routine and stay motivated. Another way of putting this might be that “misery loves company.” I think this bonding works great for the ladies. But with us men, there’s that competitive gene. You’d start off with a nice, easy walk and suddenly it’s a race to the finish line. That might be good as far as exercise goes, but the stress could kill you.

No, I think I’ll keep walking round in circles by myself. I might not get anywhere special. And, true, it’s more bland than spicy. But I’ll have the comfort of knowing that “in my end is my beginning” and “in my beginning is my end.”

Mistakes on Your Tax Return Could Lead to an Audit

By Nathaniel Sillin

You’re not alone if your heart pounds when you see a letter from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) in your mailbox. While some lucky filers get sent a letter because they’re due a larger refund, most of us fear the worst – an audit.

Those fears may be largely unfounded for the average household. Only about one percent of taxpayers get audited, and high-income taxpayers are disproportionately targeted.

If you are audited, it might not be like you imagine. An audit could focus on a particular line entry, credit or figure, and you might only need to mail or fax a copy of the relevant paperwork, such as an insurance report or receipt.

Even so, getting audited isn’t fun. In the best case, you have to take the time to dig through your records and respond. In the worst case, you have to do all that as well as pay penalties and interest.

What can you do to help reduce your risk of audit? Audits, or examinations as they’re also referred to, could be the result of a random selection, mismatched documents, deviation from the expected “norms” for similar returns or connection to someone who’s being audited. But there are a few things you can do to help minimize your chances of being audited.

–Enter all your information correctly. Take an extra few minutes to double-check the information you entered when preparing your tax return. A misspelled name or wrong number could lead to an examination.

–Include information from every form with your return. When an organization sends you a tax form, it also sends a copy to the IRS. The IRS has an automated system that can flag a return when you don’t include information from one of the forms you received.

–Don’t treat a hobby as a business. You might enjoy your hobby and occasionally make some money from it, but that doesn’t make it a business. Business and hobby expenses are treated differently and you can’t claim a loss from your hobby. If you try, that could be a red flag.

–Know the home-office rules. Many small business owners and contractors work from home, but that doesn’t automatically mean you can claim the home-office deduction. You can’t claim a guest bedroom where you occasionally work, the room (or part of a room) must be used exclusively and regularly for business.

–Only claim the EIC if you have earned income. To qualify for the Earned Income Credit (EIC), you need to have earned income, such as wages or salary, for the year. Other types of income, including alimony, child support, unemployment benefits and Social Security won’t qualify you for the EIC.

Working with a professional tax preparer, such as a certified public accountant (CPA) or enrolled agent (EA) could help you avoid making errors, but it doesn’t guarantee you won’t be audited. Similar types of support are sometimes offered with online tax preparation software for a fee. In either case, if you’re required to pay more tax, the bill may get passed on to you.

Don’t let fear cost you. Some taxpayers shy away from claiming legitimate credits and deductions because they fear an audit. That could be a costly choice. There’s only a small chance you’ll get audited, and it could be quick and relatively painless — especially if you keep good records.

Fear also leads thousands of people to fall victim to tax-related scams. Thieves may impersonate an IRS agent, but the IRS will never call or email you requesting a specific type of payment. The IRS only initiates contact with taxpayers by mail, and you can choose among several methods of payment when you owe money.

Bottom line: While there’s no way to guarantee the IRS won’t ask questions about your tax return, don’t let fear of an audit keep you from using the credits or deductions you can rightfully claim. Filing a complete and accurate return could help minimize your chances of an audit, and if you do receive a notice, you may be able to quickly resolve the issue by following the instructions.

Carl (Joe) Perroud

Carl Joseph (Joe) Perroud, age 74 of Fowlerville, MI, passed away Thursday, March 16, 2017. Joe was born November 2, 1942 to Joseph G. Perroud and Carla E. (Rife) Perroud in Lansing, MI. He married Linda Lou (McKay) Perroud, on January 26, 1963 in Detroit, and was married for 54 years. Joe was a devoted husband and father, who found great joy in his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Joe retired as a master electrician from GM and Chrysler and enjoyed spending time traveling, playing the guitar and listening to music, playing pickle ball, and visiting with family and friends.

In his early years, Joe enjoyed playing sports especially football in which he excelled as a running back. As a young man living in the country, he also enjoyed hunting and fishing and just being outdoors. He also enjoyed camping with his family and relatives at Black Lake and Ludington State Park. Joe was always striving to be the best husband, father, and friend by being introspective and reading self-help books. He also had a strong spirit as was evidenced by his determination to survive an electrocution and a heart attack.

In his middle and golden years, Joe enjoyed family reunions and holidays in which he could spend time with his relatives, children and grandchildren. He always made an effort to attend concerts, sports, and other events that his loved ones participated in. In the last few years of his illustrious life, Joe could be found in downtown Fowlerville most mornings talking with his friends at the local restaurants. He had so many good friends and memories from his childhood that he lived in Fowlerville for the greater part of his life. He had a passion for pickle ball which kept him active and made him many more friends. When walking became difficult for him, he loved getting on his tractor or cutting the grass on his riding lawn mower. He was the captain of his own ship and will forever be known for his captain hats. He has sailed to a better place and will truly be missed.

Joe is survived by his wife Linda Perroud and his children: Todd Perroud and his wife Linda (Elmore), Erick Perroud, Tammy (Prebble) and her husband Mike. Timothy Perroud and Mandy (Dewey), and grandchildren: Ashley Gibson and husband Brandon, Amber Perroud, Kayla Perroud, Josiah Perroud, Sarah and Nicole Prebble, Dayton and Juett Perroud, & Ty Perroud and great grandchildren: Ryder and Blake (Gibson), sisters: Nadine and (Bob) Garbin, Elaine and (Pete) Dalessandro, and brother: Jimmy and (Suzann) Perroud. He was preceded in death by his sisters: Betty Baltrus, Joyce Charboneau, Judy Robertson, and brother: Daniel Perroud.

A memorial service and fellowship luncheon was held at the Fowlerville Church of the Nazarene on Saturday, March 25, where family and friends shared stories and celebrated Joe's life. Arrangements by: Herrmann Funeral Home, pjherrmannfuneralhome.com

Ray graduated from MSU and had a career as a systems software programmer. Webberville
Library Report

By Head Librarian
Peg Mawby

There are always new things happening at Capital Area District Libraries' Webberville branch, and I try to use this column to get the word out. However, I think it's sometimes good to remind everyone of services and events that we have been offering for some time, but you may have forgotten.

Most people know that we have computers available for public use, and that you can make copies here. Did you know that we also offer color copies? We charge 15¢ for black and white, and 50¢ for color. We also have a portable scanner that can be connected to a public computer.

Also related to computer usage, we have a large font keyboard with a tri-color backlight. If you have trouble seeing a standard keyboard, just ask us to hook this up for you. If you have arthritis, ask to borrow our large mouse with a roller ball that is easy on the hands.

If you have young children not in school all day, we invite you to bring them to our weekly family storytime. We meet on Wednesdays at 11:15 for stories, music, games, and crafts, geared for ages six and under. There is always room for more and we welcome younger siblings who may not yet be ready to sit still for a story.

Our needle arts group meets every first and third Tuesday of the month from 6–8 p.m. Right now most members are knitters, but they welcome those interested in any type of needlework. No reservation needed, just drop in. This group has been meeting faithfully for more than five years, so you are sure to find some like-minded crafters.

Capital Area District Libraries' Webberville branch is located at 115 S. Main Street in Webberville. For more information, call 517-521-3643 or visit cadl.org.

Community celebrates 40th anniversary of Livingston County United Way

Over 230 community members celebrated the significant impact of the Livingston County United Way on the lives of children, youth, families, disabled adults, and seniors as the nonprofit marked its 40th anniversary.

Dan Danosky, retired Livingston Educational Service Agency Superintendent and outgoing United Way President, emceed the United Way's "Spirit of the Community" breakfast last Wednesday. Danosky recognized outgoing board members for their service, introduced incoming board members, and provided an overview of progress made this past year. He turned the gavel over to incoming United Way President Steve Williams, president of EctoHr, Inc.

United Way Campaign Co-Chairperson Carol Griffith recapped the 2016 United Way Campaign. She recognized Pacesetter and Top Eleven partners, and Campaign Champions, and thanked all donors for their commitment to the work being done.

As always, the annual meeting spotlights the work throughout the community to improve Financial Stability, Every Child Ready and Community Wellness in Livingston County. This year a "Billboard Slogans" theme described the community initiatives:

1. Every Child is Ready for Kindergarten
2. Youth are Valued

3. Families Thrive
4. Everyone has Enough to Eat
5. Keeping Families in Their Homes
6. A Great Place to Retire and Enjoy Grandchildren
7. A Great Place to Live

Several people were honored for the tremendous impact of their volunteer service. Kala Barringer, a high school senior, was the recipient of the Young Person of Distinction Award. Howell High School Volleyball Teams were recognized with the Youth Organization of the Year award.

The recipient of the Charles W. Itsell Volunteer of the Year was Dianne Samples from Jonna's Market in Howell. Receiving the Donald Epley Lifetime Community Service award was Jane Sutterfield, who recently retired from PNC Bank, and Nancy B. Johnson, recently retired director of the Brighton District Library. Additionally, the Randy Rudisill Business of the Year award was presented to First National Bank.

Learn more about the Livingston County United Way's community impact work in its 2016 Annual Report now available online at http://www.lcunitedway.org/wp-content/uploads/2017/03/Annual-Report-2016.final_.pdf
